

The 30th International Shipwreck Conference

SHIPWRECKS, DIVING AND MARINE ARCHAEOLOGY

SATURDAY 4th FEBRUARY 2012

Robbins Conference Centre, University of Plymouth

Invited speakers include:

Sean Fisher

Tenacity and Technology, The Search for the Atocha and the Future of Historic Shipwreck Search and Salvage

Mark Ellyatt

HMS Victoria – From Discovery till Today

Richard Larn

30 years of Westcountry shipwreck projects

Mike Williams

Update on the Marine Management Organisation

Rex Cowan

An end to exploration and adventure? - What more will we see of VOC shipwrecks?

Brett Phaneuf/Pal Nymoen

Recent Shipwreck Discoveries in Norway

Andy Seddon

In search of Ancient Wrecks - 5 Year mission to seek new wreck locations in Croatia

Mark Dunkley

Update on English Heritage's position

Pete Holt

Update on the SHIPS Project in Plymouth

Open 09:00 Close 18:00 Tickets £20.00 (£15.00 students)

(Advance booking advised as last year the auditorium was almost full and we will have to turn people away at the door if we reach the room limit)

For more details, directions and information about the conference and the post-conference dinner, visit:

www.shipwreckconference.org

The International Shipwreck Conference is organized by IMASS (the International Maritime Archaeology & Shipwreck Society)

Please note that the programme may change at short notice.